3. Presentation- THE HILLSIDE NATURAL AREA (HNA); a dedicated volunteer’s perspective

Susan Schwartz of Friends of 5 Creeks gave a power point presentation in which she noted some of the uncommon flora in the HNA such as Red Orchid, Mariposa Lily and Oakland Star Tulip. She spoke about her concerns for fire risk and the work that she and Friends of 5 Creeks volunteers have done to remove and slow the spread of French Broom throughout the HNA. She said that volunteers cannot do it all especially in critical, steep areas where the City should take a more active role by mowing and using low-toxicity herbicides to control the Broom. “El Cerrito should commit and follow through on permanent removal and hire professional wild land invasive plant experts to guide vegetation management in the HNA.” She stressed that the City needs to commit to a budget beyond Fire Risk reduction mowing and collaboration between staff, contractors and volunteers for vegetation management is overdo. She noted that some of the fuel reduction mowing was too low in height and may have harmed some native grasses and other plants.

4. Comments from the Public on non agenda items- Howdy Goudy, a member of the Environmental Quality Committee, noted that he and several tree committee members took part in the Sudden Oak Death (SOD) survey last spring. He asked the tree committee if the community is being too complacent with SOD which has migrated from Orinda to the east into Berkeley. Robin Mitchell, who is on the Park and Recreation Commission, wants to build on the synergies between her commission and the tree committee to address natural areas in the City and collaborate with volunteers in guiding management of these areas including the HNA. She voiced her support of the collaboration Susan Schwartz talked about in her presentation.
