

The City of El Cerrito is proposing changes to the 2013 Foodware Ordinance that prohibited Expanded Polystyrene Foam (“Styrofoam”) containers and required foodware to be reusable, recyclable, or compostable. The changes being proposed would phase out single-use plastic foodware items in the City of El Cerrito.

If approved, this will apply to all food providers* in the city and to products such as non-compostable and non-reusable straws, eating utensils, and food containers. The City will assist food providers by providing training and build public awareness to support a smooth transition.

This ordinance would support the City’s goals to reduce the community’s environmental impact, to reduce recycling contamination and costs, and to decrease greenhouse gas emissions, in line with the City’s Climate Action Plan and Strategic Plan goals. By eliminating the use of single-use plastic foodware, El Cerrito can help protect waterways, promote environmental sustainability, and reduce waste.

**If approved, this will apply to all food providers in the City. Food providers are defined as any vendor, business, organization, entity, group, or individual, including any restaurant or retail food establishment, and any provider of prepared food at organized or special events, in the City of El Cerrito.*

For those who rely on durable, plastic straws for drinking due to disabilities or medical needs, the ordinance would require food providers that provide compostable or reusable straws to keep plastic straws in stock for customers to use by request.

Reusable foodware preferred.
It is better for the environment and saves money for you.

Compostable foodware is compliant.
It breaks down better than alternatives and can go in the green waste bin.

Plastic foodware would be prohibited in the City of El Cerrito through these proposed changes to the foodware ordinance.
